PROTECT THE SONG BIRDS

Without the song birds all of our food crops would be destroyed by insects. They save millions of bushels of grain, fruit and vegetables every year. It is your duty to protect them and furnish them with safe homes in which to raise their young. You will be repaid a thousand fold for they will free your grounds and gardens from insect pests and gladden your heart with their beauty and song.

One man says a pair of Crested Flycatchers has nested in his pear tree for three years. Up to this time the tree had never been sprayed, yet he picked over eight bushels of pears from the tree with not a worm hole in one of them. The pair of flycatchers was certainly a cheaper and better investment than a spraying machine.
